Statement of Significance

Last updated on - January 1, 2008

The Brunswick Baths complex is of local historical and architectural Significance. The baths have long been a key recreational focus for Brunswick, and was for many years host to the Victorian swimming championships. The Baths reflected the latest in swimming pool design and technology, and was once regarded as the finest complex of its type in Australia. The renovation of the Baths in 1927-in particular the construction of the notable Dawson Street facade- reflects a period of considerable redevelopment of Brunswick's public assets, and of the reshaping of the civic precinct in Sydney Road and Dawson Street.

Physical Description 1

The Brunswick Baths building is a two storey rendered brick structure with a hipped tiled roof. The south (Dawson Street) facade has a dark brown brick base and an abstracted classical composition of paired pilasters defining projecting sections near either end. The multi-paned steel-framed windows, which sit between wide piers, have a combination of hopper and awning openings. There are two narrow moulded string courses within the spandrel panels, and a frieze with plain moulded bosses runs under the eaves. The central rendered prostyle portico has four piers and a slightly projecting parapet with a moulded frieze.
