Statement of Significance

Last updated on - January 1, 2000

Although drastically altered, this club building, formerly the ICIANZ Club, is of local significance as having once been an important recreational centre for ICI employees from the 1960s onwards. Its establishment reflected the substantial impact of the ICI firm on the social life of Deer Park, especially after the development of the large housing estate for ICI employees in the 1950s.

Physical Description 1

Once a distinctive, architect-designed, late 1950s-early 1960s design, with full-glazing to main front, lozenge-shaped roof section, broad forecourt walls; bowling rinks and shelters standard; some landscaping. Very much altered in recent times.

Physical Conditions

Good. However, the building's distinctive architectural character has been lost in recent alterations.
