Interpretationof SiteHeritage Inventory Interpretation: Remains of original Campaspe River bridge near deGravesmill at Carlsruhe. Stone for the bridge abutment was probably cut from the same historicquarry (H7723-0449) that was used to extract stone for the construction of deGraves mill. Thenorth wing of the abutment was destroyed by the construction of a new bridge on the CalderHwy in the 1960s.HermesNumber11989
