Precinct Citation:

It appears that some of Portland's earliest development took place in Gawler Street and several early structures still survive in this area, These comprise The Builders Inn (c. 1845), Gore Place (19 Gawler Street, c. 1845), Foresters Hall (co 1842, stone facade, 1854) and the stone structure opposite (1860). These buildings are enhanced by a series of residences of similar scale and density.
