The Cavendish WWII Memorial is located in the park near the Memorial Hall, on the north east corner of Scott and Barker Streets. The monument comprises of a tapering pylon of six dark grey granite blocks. It has two hollowed granite planter boxes at the sides and two shallow bluestone steps in front. Below a simple incised and gilded cross there is a dedicatory inscription to those who served from Cavendish and district during the Second World War, with a list of eight names below. The lettering is also gilded. The memorial is placed diagonally in the north-west corner of the park.
