Statement of Significance

Last updated on - February 28, 2000

The grandstand at the Queen Elizabeth Oval, Bendigo is important for the following reasons:

- as a large, well-conceived and executed late nineteenth century period grandstand, one of the most notable in the state. This excellent example of a comparatively rare building type is in excellent condition.
- as an excellent example of the 'boom style' architecture of the Victorian central goldfields.
- as a notable design of JR Richardson, the Bendigo city surveyor
- for the quality of its workmanship and local materials including red brick and decorative ironwork cast by the foundry of Dunn and Redpath
- as a structure symbolic of regional community aspirations in late nineteenth century Bendigo
- as a structure symbolizing the importance of sport to a late nineteenth century regional Victorian community
- as an important component of the View Street streetscape.

Permit Exemptions

General Exemptions:

General exemptions apply to all places and objects included in the Victorian Heritage Register (VHR). General exemptions have been designed to allow everyday activities, maintenance and changes to your property, which don't harm its cultural heritage significance, to proceed without the need to obtain approvals under the Heritage Act 2017.

Places of worship: In some circumstances, you can alter a place of worship to accommodate religious practices without a permit, but you must notify the Executive Director of Heritage Victoria before you start the works or activities at least 20 business days before the works or activities are to commence.

Subdivision/consolidation: Permit exemptions exist for some subdivisions and consolidations. If the subdivision or consolidation is in accordance with a planning permit granted under Part 4 of the Planning and Environment Act 1987 and the application for the planning permit was referred to the Executive Director of Heritage Victoria as a determining referral authority, a permit is not required.

Specific exemptions may also apply to your registered place or object. If applicable, these are listed below. Specific exemptions are tailored to the conservation and management needs of an individual registered place or object and set out works and activities that are exempt from the requirements of a permit. Specific exemptions prevail if they conflict with general exemptions.
