The two pairs of two storey maisonettes in the interwar Moderne style at 1 & 3 Leslie Road and 2 & 4 Sherbourne Street, Essendon were constructed in 1937 for Mrs. G.S.A. Williams. Alfred O. Dalton of Collins Street was the architect and the flats were built by Mr. F.W. Stahle of Mont Albert (The Herald, 25 August 1937, p.16, 'Family flats at Essendon').

These are very intact two storey buildings in the interwar Moderne style of identical constructed of mottled cream or salmon brick with a hipped tile roof. Each has a symmetrical facade featuring a projecting bay with a square parapet and a stepped Art Deco style pylon at its centre, as well as steel-framed corner windows and a porthole window below. There are two brick chimneys, and each is complemented by an original low brick fence
