Memorial Window Description & History

The designer of St. George was the British stained glass artist, Sir John Ninian Comper (1864-1960). Comper was born in Aberdeen and was apprenticed to the stained glass artist, Charles Eamer Kempe before training as an architect with Bodley and Garner. It is worth noting that these windows were designed when Comper was already in his nineties, having trained in the Victorian period. Although well-known in Britain for his stained glass he made few windows for Australian churches. He usually signed his work, either with his initials- 'JNC', as he did in this example, or with a small strawberry rebus.

The window, placed on the east wall of the Warrior's Chapel of St. George, was unveiled on 6 November 1955 by Brigadier CS Barber, MC, VD, an Old Boy of Camberwell Grammar School. The Archbishop of Melbourne, JJ Booth, dedicated the window. Sir Ninian Comper also designed another two-light war memorial window in the church, which depicted St. Peter Apostle and Edith Cavell (see separate entry).
