WESLEY CHURCH

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Yarra Street Wesleyan Methodist Church congregation was established in 1838 and the first church was erected in 1844-46 to design of noted colonial architect Charles Laing. The original Decorated Gothic church, built of brick, was later in 1859 substantially enlarged. The fabric was cement rendered in 1904. Subsequent alterations between 1859-1930 have obliterated much of the original character. The present church has important association with the foundation of the Wesleyan Methodist Church in Geelong and is an interesting church complex which has developed over an extended period.

Wesley Parsonage

B Listed - Regional Significance

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The parsonage of the Yarra Street Wesleyan Methodist Church was erected in 1890, retaining in the development the original single storey mission house built in 1849. This two storey polychromatic brick residence with timber verandah and steeply pitched slate roof was designed by celebrated Melbourne architect Butler and Usher in the style of the picturesque domestic revival and is an interesting example of the work of this partnership. The residence is set in spacious grounds with notable iron fence and has associations with the adjacent historic church building established in 1846.
