STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Ceres Temperance Hall was erected in 1861-2 for the Barrabool Hills Total Abstinence Society, a body devoted to temperance and largely founded as a reaction to the intemperance of the Ceres district, an area noted for its numerous vineyards. The rectangular plan hall, built of Barrabool sandstone with a modest Colonial Georgian facade of ashlar sandstone, chastely enhanced is of unknown design origin. The Ceres temperance Hall is an important surviving public building of the once thriving vineyard district of the Barrabool Hills and with strong association with the foundation of the temperance movement in Victoria.
