
DALMORE WELL

Dalmore Well

Location

Hobson Road RYTHDALE, Cardinia Shire

Municipality

CARDINIA SHIRE

Level of significance

Included in Heritage Overlay

Heritage Overlay Numbers

HO47

Heritage Listing

Cardinia Shire

Statement of Significance

Last updated on -

Dalmore well, (later part of the Nar Nar Goon estate) is of significance to the Cardinia Shire because it is the only physical evidence of the early farming in the area which predated soldier settlement. It is all that remains of the old Dalmore homestead complex, built in about 1883 for Duncan MacGregor, which (with other large estates) was subdivided for soldier settlement after World War One. The well is a rare and large surviving example of the brick wells that were once an important feature of country properties, indicative by its size of the importance of the house it served.

Heritage Study/Consultant	Cardinia - Cardinia Shire Heritage Study 1996, Graeme Butler & Associates, 1996;
Construction dates	1880,
Other Names	Hobson Road, Rythdale,
Hermes Number	30006
Property Number

Physical Description 1

This very large domed top well is sited on the east verge of Hobsons Road. The upper domed section of the well appears to be of machine made brick but its location, on the road reserve, means an early date, predating the subdivision. Nearby in the paddock are 2 pear trees, elms and a Hawthorn hedge (former house site?).

Physical Conditions

Generally well preserved.

Historical Australian Themes

Themes

- 3.1 Squatters/pastoralists and grazing
- 3.6 Closer settlement and soldier settlement

Physical Description 2

Associations - MacGregor, Duncan

This place/object may be included in the Victorian Heritage Register pursuant to the Heritage Act 2017. Check the Victorian Heritage Database, selecting 'Heritage Victoria' as the place source.

For further details about Heritage Overlay places, contact the relevant local council or go to Planning Schemes Online <http://planningschemes.dpcd.vic.gov.au/>