Physical Description 1

The Arawata State School No. 2970 formerly on this site has been demolished. It was a typical single room weatherboard school with a gable corrugated iron roof and a large multi-paned bank of windows at one end. There was an external chimney on the west side, and Health Department vents along the roof ridge. The entry and cloakroom were at the rear under the main gable.

The only surviving building on the site is the small rectangular shelter shed, which is located near the rear boundary. This has a hipped roof with visible rafters and trellis above a weatherboard dado.

The Arawata Union Church is on the adjacent site to the west, and the former teacher's residence is situated on the west side of Church. It is a weatherboard building of typical postwar design with a low pitch iron gable roof.

This place/object may be included in the Victorian Heritage Register pursuant to the Heritage Act 2017. Check the Victorian Heritage Database, selecting 'Heritage Victoria' as the place source.
