Statement of Significance

Last updated on -

The site could relate to G.W. Browne's ownership of Narada and is early in date (c. 1868)

Interpretation of Site

Stone features built from locally collected paddock rock-rough construction. Associated with 19th century and early 20th century and rural use of paddock and more generally with Narada Estate.

The extent of the shearer's hut is difficult to determine on the ground due to long grass and modern rubbish dumped over stone in the area. The sheep dip measures 20 m long and 10 m wide. For both; the collapsed stone merges into the adjoining paddock and downslope towards the channel of the creek.
