Statement of Significance

Last updated on - October 27, 2005

The Butcher's Shop is locally significant as a relatively intact example of an Edwardian shop and residence demonstrating the craftsmanship of a local builder, W J Croad, and Arts and Crafts detailing. The building is historically significant for its associations with the Wilson family, who are related to a pioneer family of local butchers. The building is also important for its long history of use as a butcher's shop and residence and as part of the streetscape.
