Statement of Significance

Last updated on - April 15, 2005

Individual Statement of Significance: A typical brick survey office of 1861, of double fronted composition with verandah and projecting gable, converted to court use in 1901/2. The warm red brick common to the adjacent buildings contributes to the harmony of the Arundel Street group.

Classified: 'Local' 14/11/1968

Revised: 03/08/1998

Group Statement of Significance: The former Courthouse (1864-1889) former Survey Office (1861), Holy Trinity Church (1865-1905), Church Hall (1901) and Vicarage (1914) constitute an harmonious group based upon their use of a common warm red brick as the principal material for a succession of buildings constructed and altered over some 50 years (1861-1914). The former Courthouse and Survey Office are now used for parish purposes and so are under common control and maintenance with the church buildings.
