Contribution to the landscape

An impressive stand of mature Drooping She-Oaks growing on a disused railway reserve. An isolated stand of Banksia marginata (Silver Banksia) is growing at the eastern end of this stand. Surrounding land has been cleared for grazing and these two stands are possibly the last and best example of this vegetation in the area. The stand is located on the west side of Illabarook-Moonlight Rd, 500mtrs from Cape Clear-Rokewood Rd, in the Illabarook Rail Line Conservation Reserve.
