Statement of Significance

Last updated on - June 30, 2004

Contribution to landscape
Outstanding size

A fairly commonly planted tree in the area, it is seen in many parks, gardens and as street trees. The second largest example of the species known in the Mildura region. The tree has four main trunks surrounded by an eight-sided timber seat and a wide spreading crown. Due to its size and location the tree makes a major contribution to the garden landscape

02/11/2003 The tree now has 3 main trunks, one has been removed
