Physical Description 1

The Clifton Hill Railway Station is a single-storey building of red brick construction with a bluestone plinth and a hipped slated roof. The building is designed in a free Gothic Revival style. The central gabled entrance porch facing Hoddle Street projects forward slightly, and has a large pointed archway providing access to the platforms beyond. A quatrefoil opening is located within the gable end, which is surmounted by an iron finial. On each side of the entrance are four double-hung sash windows with pointed arches, grouped in pairs. All of the windows have rendered dressings, and are united across the facade by a string course at impost level. The cornice is bracketed. Two brick chimneys penetrate the steeply pitched roof, and have rendered moulded capping. A cast iron palisade fence runs across the Hoddle Street elevation.

The Clifton Hill Station verandah canopy is a six-posted standard design freestanding timber platform canopy with rafters braced by curved iron brackets extending from each post to gutter lines. The canopy ends have timber valances and king post finials.
