Physical Description 1

Allom Allom Allom Lovell, 1998:

The Bryant and May complex at 560 Church Street, Richmond, comprises a series of factory buildings constructed of red brick with rendered dressings. The building facing Church street is three storeys high, divided into 5 bays separated by red brick piers which rise through the first and second floors. At ground floor level, the pilasters have rendered foliated capitals supporting a rendered dentillated cornice. The central entrance archway has alternating red brick and rendered voussoirs. The timber-framed windows have rendered sills and heads, and the spandrels between the first and second floor windows are embellished with Architecturally Nouveau style decoration. A modillioned cornice runs across the building above the second floor, above which is a rendered parapet surmounted by a semi-circular arched pediment in the centre. The side elevations are similarly articulated, and extend almost the full depth of the site.

The other buildings on the site constructed in the 1910s, 20s and 30s, are designed in a similar style. Located at the rear (west) of the site is a tall red brick clock tower, also of red brick construction. The upper level containing the clock is rendered, and the clock face bears the name BRYANT AND MAY in place of numbers.
