Physical Description 1

The Joel Joel Public Hall, 214 Joel Joel Road, Joel Joel, is situated in a rural setting. The immediate surrounds consists of open grassed areas and perimeter eucalypts.

The asymmetrical, horizontal timber weatherboard, simple early 20th Century hall is characterised by a gable roof form, together with a minor gable that projects towards the front. These roof forms are clad in galvanised corrugated iron. Four round galvanised ventilation stacks adorn the roofline, and narrow overhangs are features of the eaves.

Other early features of the design include the timber framed windows and doorway.

The skillion porch at the front, supported by a steel post, has been introduced.
