What is significant?

How is it significant?

Why is it significant?

The building at 125-127 Main Street, Stawell, is historically and architecturally significant at a CONTRIBUTORY level. Although the 19th century shopfront has been greatly altered, the gable roof form clad in galvanised corrugated iron immediately behind the front parapet, together with the rear gabled roof form and face brick chimneys are those elements that contribute to the historical and architectural significance of the area.
