Statement of Significance

Last updated on - August 27, 2004

The house at 42 Seaby Street, Stawell is of aesthetic significance at a CONTRIBUTORY level in the Stawell Seaby Street precinct. Although altered the building retains qualities of a characteristic late Victorian timber house. These qualities include the hipped and gabled roof forms clad in corrugated steel, the brick chimney with corbelled brick banding, the square edged weatherboard wall cladding, the timber doorway with transom light, and the timber double hung windows.
