History

Heritage Inventory History of Site:

In the late 1840s two land owners joined forces to donate 100 acres of their grazing land for a Presbyterian Church, manse and glebe and the place was called Kilnoorat. The first minister, Reverend W. Hamilton, arrived in 1847. The timber church burnt down in 1880. Nothing survives of the church today but the site of the manse marked by some bluestone blocks and a mulberry tree. The church site is about 3 kms from the cemetery.

Kilnoorat Cemetery started with burial of John McLaurin 20 November 1852, overseer of Wooriwyrite Station. It is believed that this burial may lie within the extant Anderson grave enclosure. Eugene von Gerard made a pencil drawing of the Anderson grave enclosure. Kilnoorat Cemetery was gazetted in 1865. The current research has identified 25 burials and places the last burial at the cemetery as Thomasena Shaw, aged 2, 20 April 1900.

This place/object may be included in the Victorian Heritage Register pursuant to the Heritage Act 2017. Check the Victorian Heritage Database, selecting 'Heritage Victoria' as the place source.
