Heritage Inventory History of Site:

Montrose Hill, Bulldog or referred to as Bulldog Hill from October 1861, No. 4 or Southern Division, Ballarat.

06.1861: a slight rush has occurred; the workings are quite shallow at only 4 feet.

07.1861: a few parties remain and are making fair wages.

09.1861: rushed; 350 to 400 persons are making fair wages; 20 claims are yielding as high as 1 to 4 ozs per load, one obtained 18 ozs; wash-dirt is 2.5 feet thick at depths of 18 to 30 feet through hard stiff clay, cement and gravel.

10.1861: settled population of 400 miners; 60 companies have found gold, majority are making wages; one company obtained 39 ozs from 17 loads of stuff; depth varies from 20 to 25 feet, thickness varies from 4 inches to 2 feet, and it extends over 250 to 300 feet.

11.1861: yields have declined but prospecting is continuing in the area.
01.1862: rushed; 35 of the 45 holes bottomed averaged 1.5 ozs per load; depth is 36 to 50 feet; thickness of the wash-dirt is 1.5 to 4 feet; mining population is 600 and increasing; expected to be traced into a regular lead.
02.1862: Bulldog rush is yielding 1 oz 13 dwt to 2 oz 10 dwt per load; Rokewood Prospecting Company are erecting a steam baling machine to test the deep ground.
03.1862: still doing well; one party obtained 78 ozs last month from 15 loads of wash dirt; another got 13 ozs 8 dwt from 12 loads of cement that were crushed on trial.
04.1862: yield has fallen off.
05.1862: matters are looking brighter.
Bulldog, No. 4 or Southern Division, Ballarat.
09.1864: small rush
03.1866: most of the old gullies are in the possession of the Chinese, who give no information.
09.1866: a small rush at the end of July, 20 claims turned out well paying 5 to 6 pounds per man.
03.1868: miners are getting excellent wages, 1 pound per man per day is not uncommon.
06.1870: some good patches have been found and are being worked.
09.1871: rush to Bulldog, Nil Desperandum Hill and Mia Mia; depth is 57 feet and the yields are 1 to 3 ozs per load.
Illabrook, No. 4 or Southern Division, Ballarat.
12.1886: a number of small parties are working with average results.
06.1887: small parties are working some with excellent results.
09.1889: two or three sluicing parties are getting fair yields.
