History

Heritage Inventory History of Site: Ian Taylor, former land owner, states that his father told him that this is the remains of a dairy owned by a man named King. While Patrick King owned allotment 159A (to the south) between 1904 and 1905, it would appear more likely that this site consists of the remains of Samuel Rowbotton's house. Rowbotton leased 158A from the late 1870s. In 1882 he claimed to reside on the property, having built a 2 room wooden house (22 x 10ft) and a stone kitchen of 12 x 11ft as well as farming a 10 chain track. Rowbotton also leased 159 (immediately south) which he used for grazing.
