Statement of Significance

Last updated on -

The Cowangie historic precinct is of potential historic and social significance as a reminder of the range of industrial and social activities of the early township and its community. The memorial pepper trees reflect the influence of war on the Mallee and commemorates those who went to war from the local community. The gypsum loading ramps reflect the importance of the local industry which was established in the 1920s and operated into the 1980s.
