

Mortlake Boer War Memorial

Mort 8.jpg

Mort 9.jpg

Mort 10.jpg

Mort 11.jpg

Location

Corner of Dunlop Street and Darlington Road MORTLAKE, MOYNE SHIRE

Municipality

MOYNE SHIRE

Level of significance

-

Heritage Overlay Numbers

Heritage Listing

Vic. War Heritage Inventory

Statement of Significance

Last updated on - March 10, 2006

What is significant?

The Boer War memorial located in the rose garden in Officer Street, Mortlake, probably in the early 1900s celebrates the lives of those local men who died serving in the South African War of 1899-1902 and was erected at the end of the war. The memorial is a simple bluestone obelisk with an inscribed white marble plaque on each face.

How is it significant?

The Boer War memorial located in the rose garden in Officer Street, Mortlake, is of historical and aesthetic and social significance to Moyne Shire.

Why is it significant?

The Boer War memorial located in the rose garden in Officer Street, Mortlake, is of local historical significance as a memorial erected to honour those local men who died in the South African War of 1899-1902.

The Boer War memorial located in the rose garden in Officer Street, Mortlake, is of local aesthetic significance as a simple obelisk form; and for its use of local bluestone; its aesthetic significance is enhanced by the garden setting.

The Boer War memorial located in the rose garden in Officer Street, Mortlake, is of local social significance as a memorial to local men who died at war, and as such is a site of prayer, pilgrimage and remembrance.

Heritage Study/Consultant	Moyne - Moyne Shire Heritage Study Stage 2, Helen Doyle in association with Context P/L, 2006;
Construction dates	1900,
Hermes Number	127488
Property Number

Physical Description 1

The Mortlake Boer War memorial is a simple bluestone obelisk, with a panel of white marble on each face where the inscriptions have been placed. It is located within the rose garden in Officer Street. The inscription on the memorial reads 'Erected by the residents of Mortlake & District to the memory of those soldiers of the Empire who fell in the South African War 1899-1902'.

COMPARATIVE ANALYSIS

The Mortlake Boer War Memorial is unusual in that it is the only known public memorial in Moyne Shire erected to those who died in the South African war of 1899-1902. There are some private memorials in churches and other public buildings in the Shire, but no other known public monument of this type. There are a total of 51 Boer War memorials in Victoria listed on 'Defending Victoria' website [<http://users.netcon.net.au/~ianmac/memorial.html>] The obelisk was a relatively common style of Boer War monument erected in Victoria. The Mortlake memorial is very similar to the Inverleigh Boer War memorial.

Physical Conditions

Good

Integrity

Intact

Veterans Description for Public

The Boer War memorial, located in the rose garden in Officer Street, was constructed around the early 1900s, to commemorate those local men who died serving in the South African War of 1899-1902. Comprising of a simple bluestone obelisk, with a panel of white marble on each face, the inscriptions are specifically dedicated to Corp. John B. Yates, 2nd Kitcheners Fighting Scouts and Lance Corp. Duncan and Priv. Walter Clark.

This place/object may be included in the Victorian Heritage Register pursuant to the Heritage Act 2017. Check the Victorian Heritage Database, selecting 'Heritage Victoria' as the place source.

For further details about Heritage Overlay places, contact the relevant local council or go to Planning Schemes Online <http://planningschemes.dpcd.vic.gov.au/>