

HARVEST HOME ROAD BUILDING REMAINS

Location

130 HARVEST HOME ROAD WOLLERT, WHITTLESEA CITY

Municipality

WHITTLESEA CITY

Level of significance

Heritage Inventory Site

Heritage Inventory (HI) Number

H7922-0313

Heritage Listing

Victorian Heritage Inventory

Interpretation of Site	It is possible that the two areas of in situ bluestone blocks are buildings. The row of historic trees suggest a homestead or farm site. There is a possibility of a hotel site on the allotment. (See History section.)
Archaeological Significance	Possible archaeological deposits of one of the earliest hotels in the area, and likely to be relatively intact. It is possible that the two areas of in situ bluestone blocks are buildings. The row of historic trees suggest a homestead or farm site. There is the possibility of a hotel site on the allotment. (See History section.)
Historical Significance	The site has potential to inform on both domestic and rural community activities in mid 19th century. Medium significance under this criterion.
Hermes Number	13612
Property Number

History

The grantee of the allotment was Thomas Brown in 1853. The southern part of the allotment was sub-divided in 1861 (10 acres) and owned by John Mayer. Hermione and ALEXander Henry Ludemann purchased the land in 1868 and held the title..

This place/object may be included in the Victorian Heritage Register pursuant to the Heritage Act 2017. Check the Victorian Heritage Database, selecting 'Heritage Victoria' as the place source.

For further details about Heritage Overlay places, contact the relevant local council or go to Planning Schemes Online <http://planningschemes.dpcd.vic.gov.au/>