Statement of Significance

Last updated on -

Moderate scientific significance, local historic significance. High potential for further in situ archaeological deposits.

Interpretation of Site	Structural and artefact remains are likely to relate to Wright occupation. Removal of the topsoil over an area of 20x20 metres is likely to reveal further in situ archaeological deposits and define the dimensions of the house's structural remains.

History

Site of former Wright homestead (c1860-early 1900s). No structures were present prior to this date. The first Wright homestead was a small wooden house, possibly with two rooms. All that remains above ground is a well and jonquils that emerge each year.

This place/object may be included in the Victorian Heritage Register pursuant to the Heritage Act 2017. Check the Victorian Heritage Database, selecting 'Heritage Victoria' as the place source.
