
CHINAMAN'S POINT CHINESE FISHERS' HUTS

Location

BRIDGE STREET (FORMERLY FISH STREET) QUEENSCLIFF, QUEENSCLIFFE BOROUGH

Municipality

QUEENSCLIFFE BOROUGH

Level of significance

Heritage Inventory Site

Heritage Inventory (HI) Number

H7821-0098

Heritage Listing

Victorian Heritage Inventory

Statement of Significance

Last updated on - April 10, 2024

What is significant?

These sites have great archaeological potential, as these areas appear to be relatively undisturbed. Chinese artefacts have previously been recovered from the Swan Ponds and Creek areas.

How is it significant?

These sites have great archaeological potential, as these areas appear to be relatively undisturbed. Chinese artefacts have previously been recovered from the Swan Ponds and Creek areas.

Why is it significant?

These sites have great archaeological potential, as these areas appear to be relatively undisturbed. Chinese artefacts have previously been recovered from the Swan Ponds and Creek areas.

Interpretation of Site	The first allotments surveyed as part of the Flat were created in 1864 for lease to licensed fishermen under the Fishing Act of the Victorian Government, and thus became known as Fisherman's Flat. Originally, the area was comprised of Plank Road (now Wharf Street), which lead to the original fisherman's pier, and Fish Street (now Bridge Street), which terminated at Chinaman's Point. These sites have great archaeological potential, as these areas appear to be relatively undisturbed. Chinese artefacts have previously been recovered from the Swan Ponds and Creek areas.
Hermes Number	14120
Property Number

History

Chinese fishers first occupied the area known as Chinamans Point prior to the establishment of a European Fishing industry in the 1860s. The first allotments surveyed as part of the Flat were created in 1864 for lease to licensed fishermen under the Fishing Act of the Victorian Government, and thus became known as Fisherman's Flat. Originally, the area was comprised of Plank Road (now Wharf Street), which lead to the original fisherman's pier, and Fish Street (now Bridge Street), which terminated at Chinaman's Point.

At least ten houses were located in the area, and it is possible that some are located on the former peninsula on the Swan Island side of The Cut.

This place/object may be included in the Victorian Heritage Register pursuant to the Heritage Act 2017. Check the Victorian Heritage Database, selecting 'Heritage Victoria' as the place source.

For further details about Heritage Overlay places, contact the relevant local council or go to Planning Schemes Online <http://planningschemes.dpcd.vic.gov.au/>