A fine and intact example of an interwar house with Spanish Mission detailing, notably the arcaded porch with Baroque parapet with panel with 'Aloha' in cursive script and barley twist columns, and the Serlian window also with barley twist columns. The house is complemented by an original rendered post and pier front fence.

A Contributory place within the Riverview Estate (Leslie Road) Precinct and part of an intact streetscape of interwar houses (most with original front fences) in Stanley Street.
