Contribution to landscape of historic garden
Outstanding size
Aesthetic value
Outstanding example of species

This Weeping Pink Higan Cherry (Prunus subhirtella 'Pendula Rosea') located on the north-east side of the historic residence and garden, is significant for the major aesthetic contribution to the immediate garden setting and greater environment. As a second generation planting it complements and accentuates, with its seasonally changing hemispherical shaped canopy, the curves of the ocean-liner shape of Arthur Pretty's 1940 Moderne inspired architecture of the residence. It is outstanding as an example of the species and this grafted cultivar with its wide spreading domed canopy, very thick standard rootstock and immense dimensions.
