B Listed - Regional Significance

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Historically, little is known of the Humphrey's family, but the house is a well-preserved example of an era when this part of Geelong was undergoing significant expansion.

Architecturally, a distinctive design in the Federation Bungalow manner, which is a major contributor to an important detached Edwardian villa precinct.

Physical Description 1

DESCRIPTION

This is a distinctive timber house, designed after the Federation Bungalow style and illustrating the style's Far Eastern influences. Combining hipped and gabled roofs, the house's pyramid-roofed tower, at the verandah corner, distinguishes it from similar contemporary houses both in Connor Street and Geelong generally. Typically, timber slatting provides the verandah ornament but the gabled roof vents, and fretted windows hood brackets and stepped profile round-head timber picket fence appears to be original.

EXTERNAL INTEGRITY

Generally original.

STREETSCAPE

Major contributor to Urban Area 8.8, supporting the Edwardian era architectural dominance of the street.
