B Listed - Regional Significance

Significance

Historically, the site of and part of one of Geelongs and the States earliest group of woollen mills and earliest secondary industries. It is externally (in part) one of the States oldest group of factories.

Architecturally, the Factories Road complex is both early and stylistically distinctive for an industrial complex, also the red brick parts of the complex relate closely to the Valley Mills on the north.

Conservation analysis required.

DESCRIPTION

(Further Inspection needed)

In factories Road, the coloured brickwork, basalt plinth, castellated parapet and bell-rouer make the complex visually unusual and perhaps the most valuable of the 19th century Geelong mill structures, albeit altered and reduced in scale. The application of the coloured brick-work resembles Davidson and Henderson's 41-43 McKillop Street (1870); the castellated tower also suggesting the firm's Scottish Baronial inspirations.

EXTERNAL INTEGRITY

Openings sealed up, fencing replaced and part of the brickwork painted, Reputedly a storey has been removed.

STREETSCAPE

Relates historically and visually to the two Swanston Street mill complexes to the north and west.]
