Statement of Significance

Last updated on -

Remnant native vegetation
Rare or localised

This Snow Gum (Eucalyptus pauciflora) is located on the roadside by 'Andersons Farm' and is possibly a remnant from a sparse population in the Creswick area. The area and basalt soil is typical of other sites of remnant trees.

There is opinion that it maybe a planted tree providing shade to an adjoining paddock.

Snow Gums are more typically found in high mountain areas near the snow line.
