STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The house at 92 Little Myers Street, Geelong, has significance as a reasonably intact example of the Victorian Picturesque style. Built in 1883, the house appears to be in good condition when viewed from the street.

The house at 92 Little Myers Street is architecturally significant at a LOCAL level. It demonstrates original design qualities of a Victorian Picturesque style. These qualities include the hipped roof form, together with the gable and bullnosed verandah that project towards the Little Myers Street frontage. Other intact or appropriate qualities include the asymmetrical composition, single storey height, horizontal weatherboard wall cladding, galvanised corrugated steel roof cladding, rendered brick chimneys, narrow eaves including the timber brackets at the front, timber framed double hung windows including the tripartite window at the front, timber verandah columns, cast iron verandah valances and brackets, decorative gable bargeboards, turned timber gable finial and the timber framed doorway with sidelights. The front timber picket fence also contributes to the significance of the place.

The house at 92 Little Myers Street is historically significant at a LOCAL level. It is associated with residential developments in Geelong in the 1880s. In particular, this house has associations with John Caulfield, original owner from 1883.

Overall, the house at 92 Little Myers Street is of LOCAL significance.

Physical Description 1

The house at 92 Little Myers Street, Geelong, is set on a corner allotment which is wider than a number of blocks in the local area. The house has a modest front setback to Little Ryrie Street, and a similar setback to Oldfields Place, together with another narrower side setback. The front of the property is bound by an introduced timber picket fence with decorative timber posts and is approximately 1300 mm high. There is a side timber paling fence fronting Oldfields Place, with an introduced aluminium shed behind. An introduced gable carport is situated at the rear.

The asymmetrical, single storey, horizontal weatherboard, Victorian Picturesque styled house is characterised by a hipped roof form, together with a gable and bullnosed verandah that project towards the Little Myers Street frontage. These roof forms are clad in galvanised corrugated steel. Two early rendered brick chimneys with projecting cornices adorn the roofline. Narrow overhangs with paired timber brackets are features of the front eaves.

A feature of the design is the bullnosed verandah. It is supported by introduced timber columns with moulded capitals and is decorated with cast iron valances and brackets. Other early decorative features of the design include the timber gable bargeboards and the turned timber finial. The gable ventilator and possibly the finial appear to have been introduced.

The timber framed double hung tripartite window under the projecting gable, together with the other timber framed double hung windows at the front and side, also appear to be early. The timber framed doorway with sidelights is also early.

This place/object may be included in the Victorian Heritage Register pursuant to the Heritage Act 2017. Check the Victorian Heritage Database, selecting 'Heritage Victoria' as the place source.
