B listed - Regional Significance

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Historically linked to the prolific Geelong builder J C Taylor is one of the firm's better housing examples on an intermediate scale.

Architecturally, a superior row house design in the Geelong and State context given its date, scale and investment nature. It possesses distinctive details and finishes and contributes to a residential precinct.

External Integrity

Generally original except for fence replacement in the 1920s.

Streetscape

A major streetscape element in its own right, the row complemented other late Victorian and Edwardian houses in the area.

Physical Description 1

DESCRIPTION

Comprised of three gabled bays which protrude from a transverse gable main roof, this three-house row is built of two-colour brick and has a linking timber post verandah and the roof gable fascias are particularly notable for their scalloped fretted design and cast iron-infill details. A finely detailed verandah post capital is both distinctive and counterpoint to the more exuberant details elsewhere.

Do-toothed brickwork at the eaves and chimney cornices is further evidence of the likely architect-design of this row. Other elements include surviving terra-cotta chimney pots on a rear chimney.

This place/object may be included in the Victorian Heritage Register pursuant to the Heritage Act 2017. Check the Victorian Heritage Database, selecting 'Heritage Victoria' as the place source.
