
Stained Glass Window at Camberwell St. John's Anglican Church

Camberwell St Johns
Anglican Church, St John,
David Taylor Kellock c.1957

Location

Burke Road, Camberwell, BOROONDARA CITY

Municipality

BOROONDARA CITY

Level of significance

-

Heritage Listing

Vic. War Heritage Inventory

Heritage
Study/Consultant

Vic War Heritage Inventory - Stained Glass Memorial Windows Study, Bronwyn
Hughes, 2013;

Architect/Designer

Kellock, David Taylor,

Hermes Number

196909

Property Number

Memorial Window References & Acknowledgements

Commonwealth War Graves Commission website; R.J. Macdougall, History of St. John's, Camberwell, (1963), p.217.

Memorial Window Subject

St. John

Memorial Window Text

n/a

Memorial Window Inscription

Plaque: In loving memory of Charles Frederick Belton Prisoner of War, died in Thailand, 30th June, 1943.

Memorial Window Description & History

The first church of St. John was razed by fire in March 1955 with the loss of many memorial windows, some dedicated to soldiers of the First World War. The new church, designed by Louis R Williams, which opened in 1957, brought forth a new collection of memorial windows, one of the first of which was dedicated to Charles Belton who died while a prisoner of war in Thailand. The window was one of a series designed by David Taylor Kellock (1913-1988) for the new building.

Charles Frederick Belton was the son of Arthur Charles and Lucy Belton, Ashby-de-la-Zouch, Leicestershire. He joined the 5 Field Regiment Royal Artillery as a gunner and was captured by the Japanese in the fall of Singapore. Apart from the dreadful conditions under which the men lived and worked, cholera claimed many lives during May and June 1943. Gunner Belton died on 30 June 1943, one of 5,084 Commonwealth casualties and 1,896 Dutch who were buried or commemorated in Kanchanaburi War Cemetery, Thailand.

This place/object may be included in the Victorian Heritage Register pursuant to the Heritage Act 2017. Check the Victorian Heritage Database, selecting 'Heritage Victoria' as the place source.

For further details about Heritage Overlay places, contact the relevant local council or go to Planning Schemes Online <http://planningschemes.dpcd.vic.gov.au/>