Memorial Window Description & History

Lady Cresswell ordered the window in memory of her son, Randolph William Cresswell, on 18 March 1937. A new cartoon was drawn up, probably to a William Kerr-Morgan (1896-1967) design. The gum leaf, symbolising Australia, and the Serbian Order of the White Eagle, were placed in the lower panel above the badge of the Imperial Camel Corps. The ornamental canopy and base and the cherubim, based on Sir Josuah Reynolds' cherubs, were repeated from the earlier design for the Luxton memorial installed in 1931 by Brooks, Robinson & Co. The window measured 106 x 24 inches and the base panel 33 x 24 inches (approximate sizes only).

Randolph William Cresswell was the son of Admiral Sir William Rooke Cresswell and Adelaide Elizabeth Cresswell, OBE; another of their sons was also killed and a third son wounded. He was initially Lieutenant in 29 Battalion and was promoted to Captain on 6 November 1916 with the 3 (Anzac) Camel Corps. He received the Serbian Order of the White Eagle, 5th Class, with Swords for special services during desert operations. He was killed in action on 6 November 1917 in Palestine and was buried in Beersheba War Cemetery.
