Statement of Significance

Last updated on - July 9, 2020

The chimney is likely to be associated with a structure such as a shepherd's hut which occur in the Moyne Shire and is an example of property management on large stations in the region. The hut site and associated sheds are of historical significance to the Moyne Shire.

Interpretation of Site	It is remains of possible shepherds hut, with chimney left in situ where surrounding structure made of wood has been removed or reclaimed. Bricks indicate 20th century construction, likely an example of property management on large stations in the local region. Possibly corrugated iron also used in construction and removed as is remaining on adjacent shed or re-used to build the shed.
