STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

'Melaleuca' erected in 1854 for William Noble is a single storey rendered brick building with slate roof with unusual paired eaves brackets. The recessed entry porch and quoining to entry, and series of French doors, place this building in the Regency style in the Regency style and therefore of great architectural interest in Victoria. The doors are a similar design to 'Carlyle', although the shutters have been removed. The house is enhanced by its remnants of an early garden. The building is a distinctive work of the innovative Geelong architectural firm of Snell & Prowse.
