How is it Significant?

The house at 74 The Strand, Newport is of local historic and aesthetic significance to the City of Hobsons Bay.

Why is it Significant?

Historically, it is significant as one of a small number of surviving nineteenth century villas that illustrate the earliest phase of development of The Strand. (AHC criteria A4 and D2)

Aesthetically, although altered, it retains its distinctive Italianate form, which is notable for the rare (in a local context) pair of canted bays. It contributes to the small group of similarly styled and sited dwellings in this part of The Strand. (AHC criteria B2 and E1)

Physical Description 1

As originally constructed, the house at 74 The Strand Newport was a single storey, double-fronted, symmetrical block-fronted Victorian villa with a hipped corrugated galvanised steel roof. It is sited diagonal to the street boundary and is set back from it by a garden. Significant original elements (ground floor only) are:

- Canted bays flanking a central cast iron verandah
- Double-hung sash windows with segmented arched heads
- The elevated siting on a bluestone plinth
- Entrance door with side and highlights
- Deep front garden.

A rather overwhelming second storey in a faux Victorian style is a recent addition.
