Physical Description 1

The house San Souci and its orchard have been demolished. It was described in the Doncaster & Templestowe Heritage Study (1991) as follows:

'An intact California Bungalow style house with a major gable across the site and with lesser major and minor gables facing the street, not nested. The right-hand major gable extends forward as a verandah supported on pairs of concrete Romanesque barley sugar columns on red/blue brick bases. The upper gables are half-timbered with timber shingles. The windows are triples and the roof is clad with Marseilles terracotta tiles.

'There is a lemon orchard adjacent to the north which is hedged on the Elgar side with pittosporums.'
