Physical Description 1

This house has been demolished to make way for a townhouse development. It was described in the Doncaster & Templestowe Heritage Study as follows:

'A double-fronted, rectangular pavillion plan timber house, with a gable roof of Marseilles tiles.

Situated on a large allotment this simple house, with sixpane casement windows, was neatly built without corner steps on weatherboard. The house is intact and in excellent condition.

'There is a fine garden including some exotics.'
