Physical Description 1

224 Clarke Street is a typical and substantially intact example of a late Victorian two-storey terrace house, common in the inner city municipalities, but rare in Northcote. The street facade is rendered with a two-storey verandah decorated with cast iron lacework and balustrading, whilst the side facades are plain and of face brick. Wing walls extend to each side of the verandah and are terminated by pressed cement orbs. The cornice has console brackets and is surmounted by a plain parapet with urns at each end and a segmented arched pediment in the centre flanked by pineapples.

At ground floor level the central window is arched with narrow sidelights, forming a Serlian motif, and the doorway has a spoked arched fanlight and sidelights. The tall picket fence is a recent addition.

This place/object may be included in the Victorian Heritage Register pursuant to the Heritage Act 2017. Check the Victorian Heritage Database, selecting 'Heritage Victoria' as the place source.
