Physical Description 1

92 Westbourne Grove is a double-fronted polychrome brick house with a cast-iron verandah along the street front. The verandah has a dentillated pediment, rich cast-iron frieze work and coupled cast-iron columns. The hipped roof is slated, and the two polychrome brick chimneys have rendered moulded caps. The four-panelled entrance door has sidelights and highlights and is flanked by tripartite double hung sash windows.

Alterations include the construction of brick piers at the base of the verandah columns and the painting of the brickwork. The original front fence has also been replaced with an unsympathetic low brick fence
