Statement of Significance

Last updated on - May 25, 1999

In 1856 a wooden schoolroom was built where the present school stands in Church Street. A brick addition was made in 1866; the architect was HE Tolhurst, builder Robert Jeffrey and cost £440. In 1870 a further brick building was added; builder John Hanton, cost £291. In 1873 the school was recognised as a state school and "new" buildings (alterations and additions to the old) was constructed by Kennedy and Anderson at a cost of £1067. The design of this building was much criticised. In 1884 a new building was planned and a wing for an infant school was completed then. In 1886 the contract for completion of the building by the district architect, George Mason was given to Newton and Borland, builders, for the cost of £4359.

Permit Exemptions

General Exemptions:

General exemptions apply to all places and objects included in the Victorian Heritage Register (VHR). General exemptions have been designed to allow everyday activities, maintenance and changes to your property, which don't harm its cultural heritage significance, to proceed without the need to obtain approvals under the Heritage Act 2017.

Places of worship: In some circumstances, you can alter a place of worship to accommodate religious practices without a permit, but you must notify the Executive Director of Heritage Victoria before you start the works or activities at least 20 business days before the works or activities are to commence.

Subdivision/consolidation: Permit exemptions exist for some subdivisions and consolidations. If the subdivision or consolidation is in accordance with a planning permit granted under Part 4 of the Planning and Environment Act 1987 and the application for the planning permit was referred to the Executive Director of Heritage Victoria as a determining referral authority, a permit is not required.

Specific exemptions may also apply to your registered place or object. If applicable, these are listed below. Specific exemptions are tailored to the conservation and management needs of an individual registered place or object and set out works and activities that are exempt from the requirements of a permit. Specific exemptions prevail if they conflict with general exemptions.
