Statement of Significance

Last updated on -

King's Arcade is a notable building both externally in its facadal treatment and internally in its retention of the character of such a retail arcade. The arcade is strategically site to lead from the commercial area of High Street to Armadale Railway Station.

Physical Description 1

Erected in 1893, King's Arcade in Armadale is an intact shopping arcade with an extensive red brick facade to High Street. The identical flanking bays of this asymmetrical facade feature gable ends crowned with terracotta lions and incorporate pairs of rectangular windows with curved cement render surrounds and circular window above. One of the two inner bays of the facade features a balcony and supported hood while the other incorporates windows with slightly pointed heads. Rectangular balustrading at parapet level reveals a slate and two chimney pots. Profuse use of cement render detailing contrasts with the red face brickwork of the entire facade above the cantilevered bullnose veranda at street level. Internally, the arcade is lined with original shopfronts which feature leaded glass and tilework.
