Statement of Significance

Last updated on - September 1, 2005

Woodrow is of local historic interest. The remaining section of the original 1860s or 1870s house is one of a small number of farm houses surviving from Heidelberg's pastoral period, prior to the subdivision booms of the 1880s and early 20th century.

Historical Australian Themes

Woodrow was constructed after a period of settlement in the Banyule area in the 1840s and 1850s. It remains as one of the few surviving substantial early Victorian homesteads erected during that period.
