Physical Description 1

St Stephens is a small church, designed in an unusual and inventive Arts and Crafts style. Constructed of clinker brick, the church has a steeply pitched gabled terracotta tiled roof, which extends on one side to form a bracketed porch over the side entrance. A distinctive tapering brick tower projects at the corner of the building, and has a gabled bellcote with a bracketed hood, surmounted by a white painted rendered spire. The simple Tudor arched windows have red and clinker brick voussoirs.
